2006 ECS ANNUAL BUSINESS MEETING

The Kentucky Chapter of the Air & Waste Management Association is honored to host the 2006 Annual East Central Section business meeting at historic Churchill Downs. There will be food, fun, prizes, racing and even a professional development seminar. The seminar will include several presentations on the status of various air toxics initiatives around the region. After the morning fun, we can get down to business like those millionaires seen on Derby day. We have booked the owners' suite for this exciting event and will have full access to the best of everything, including a gourmet buffet, a private bar and betting windows, private balconies overlooking the legendary finish line, a full day of thoroughbred racing and even a chance to present a trophy to the winner of our featured race. Space is limited so register early and avoid missing the chance to live like a millionaire.

CURRENT INITIATIVES REGARDING AIR TOXICS

The technical session will provide an overview of air toxics initiatives and an insight into some of the recent regulatory developments in the region. Speakers will provide perspective from both the regulator and the regulated communities. Additionally, Mr. Ted Palma from US EPA will provide an update on EPA's Residual Risk Program. The material presented should be informative for the novice, as well as those with decades of experience dealing with air toxics. Those scheduled to present include:

Mr. John Lyons, Director of Kentucky Division for Air Quality
Mr. Ted Palma, US EPA Office of Air and Radiation
Mr. Dennis Conniff, Frost Brown Todd, LLC
Mr. Paul Koval, Ohio Environmental Protect Agency
*Ms. Cathy Simon, Michigan DEQ
* Awaiting travel assistance from sponsors
